

The Smokefree Great Britain Survey 2018

Public Opinion in the South East

Today, 14.46% of people in the South East continue to smoke.<sup>1</sup> Smoking killed 37,420 people in the South East from 2014-16<sup>2</sup> and remains the leading cause of preventable illness and premature death in England.<sup>3</sup>

In 2018 the public supported Government action to tackle tobacco

- A majority of adults in the South East believe that the Government is not doing enough (38%) or doing about right (37%) to limit smoking.
- The number of people that believe the Government is either doing too much or doing far too much has declined since 2017, showing public support for further government action on tobacco control.

In 2018 the South East supported requiring tobacco to be sold in standardised packaging

58% of respondents in the South East continue to support the law which requires standardised packaging of tobacco products. Smoking is a childhood addiction, not an adult choice,<sup>4</sup> this legislation was vital for reducing the appeal of tobacco products to young people.

What further action should be taken?

Smoking Ban in Cars

Support for a smoking ban in all cars has increased since 2017. 65% of respondents from the South East agreed that smoking should be banned in all cars, an increase of 3% on the 2017 figure. With 20% of respondents stating they were occasionally or frequently exposed to tobacco smoke whilst in other people's cars, a ban would reduce the number of people being exposed to second hand smoke whilst travelling.

Tobacco Licencing

In Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland retailers are required to be on a register in order to sell tobacco. If retailers sell tobacco to children they can be removed from the register. 81% of adults in the South East support introducing a similar retail register in England, making it an important step for government to consider. Furthermore, when asked, 86% of respondents either strongly supported or tended to support higher penalties on retailers who sell tobacco to children.

Protect children from exposure to smoking on TV

People in the South East also feel strongly about keeping children away from exposure to smoking on TV. 49% of respondents disagreed with the statement 'Exposing under-eighteens to smoking on TV is acceptable', with only 23% agreeing with the statement.

In 2018 the South East population remained cautious of tobacco companies

Local authorities are often approached by the tobacco industry however public trust in these companies remains low, only 8% of people agree with the statement: 'Tobacco companies behave ethically'
